Pankaj Tripathi appeals for plantation on 'Dan Utsav'

Actor Pankaj Tripathi is encouraging people to grow trees by supporting 'Daan Utsav', a mission of planting more and more trees by Grow-Trees.com. Dan Utsav, formerly known as The Joy of Giving Week, is an annual 'Festival of Charity' celebrated from October 2 to October 8. Talking about this initiative Pankaj Tripathi said, "Nature is not just a beautiful backdrop to click a selfie, a resource, a tool, an Instagrammable picture. Organizations like Grow-Trees.com help us understand the ecosystem. And I hope that millions of people will be attracted for the massive afforestation movement and will plant trees not only during the charity festival but also after.

"Pankaj is not just a very talented and spontaneous actor, he has a lot of empathy for the environment and all the living beings that share this planet with us. I am glad that he is speaking up for nature and asking people to plant trees. Because his voice will definitely inspire a large number of people to do the same," said Bikrant Tiwari, CEO of grow-trees.com.

The 'Mirzapur' actor said, "If even half of the 1,392,700,000 Indians planted trees, imagine the green effect it would have. If you don't have your own land where you can plant a tree, grow- Contact trees.com. Instead of gifting bouquets on special occasions, donate a tree."

Pankaj Tripathi said, "Oxygen and water are not free and rain does not come on its own. They are the result of healthy ecosystem. Nature is a living, breathing system that sustains us and we have to do everything to make it healthy. Every effort should be made."

Grow-Trees.com is a social organization that has helped plant millions of trees globally and launched large-scale afforestation efforts.
