Mother's Day 2024: The Art of Choosing Earth-Friendly Gifts

| Updated: May 06, 2024, 04:20 PM IST

We're already past the first Sunday of the year and there's only more week to go for Mother's Day. While every day should be a day to celebrate mothers, there's nothing wrong with taking out time and gifting something thoughtful to that special person in our lives – mothers. But let this year be the year when you think beyond the obvious and truly go green in your gifting choices. Here are some ec-sensitive gifts that help nature while you stay true to the spirit of celebrating your mother.

Chemical free house products

If your mother is house-proud and ensures that everything is always clean at all time, this is your cue to gift her products for the home that are chemical free and safe for the environment and her health. Steer clear of air fresheners that may have volatile organic compounds (VOCs), chlorine-laced bleaching liquids, all-purpose cleaning products that may include ammonia, ethylene glycol monobutyl acetate, sodium hypochlorite or trisodium phosphate and instead choose products that have natural, biodegradable and safe ingredients.
